SOAP DUE BACK WITH RETURN OF MEAT SUPPLIES

Dealers Predict Shortage Will Ease After Livestock Reaches Packers.

Meat was back on the counters in Mansfield today and butchers predicted that the return of meat will put soap back in the family washer.

Shorter lines of patrons at meat markets indicated a relaxed tension on the part of a meat-hungry public, while dealers reported that customers had begun a "hold the line" attitude toward higher priced cuts.

Butchers canvassed today predicted that laundry and toilet soaps, scarce for more than a month, would gradually return as livestock fills stockyards.

Hamburger prices in the city today were about at the OPA figure of 45 cents per pound. Ground beef varied between 55 and 59 cents per pound. Pork chops, still scarce on the market, went into the higher price bracket at 75 cents per pound. Round steak averaged 80 cents per pound; sirloin 90 cents, and T-bones, $1.

"Our customers are beginning to ask prices again," one dealer said. "And for the most part, they're buying the lower-priced cuts."

See Price Drop.

This reaction was verified by the majority of the dealers who said that the public's attitude toward the higher prices would force meat to a moderate level as soon as stockyards in the central and western sections of the country became full.

One dealer reported only two lines around his counter this morning, which last week was flanked by six rows of waiting customers.

"There's also a gradual decline in quantity buying," he said. "The public is meat hungry, but customers are sure of getting meat now, so they're not making a rush for it."

Stockyards Stage Buying Spree

(By International News Service)

Indications mounted today that the nation's meat supply lines would fill sooner than predicted after the decontrol action by President Truman.

Livestock receipts bounced back to better than normal as the buying spree continued at all stockyards in the midwest.

Cattle prices set a new high in Chicago yesterday when two loads of Iowa yearlings sold for $35.25 per hundredweight, compared with $28.75 paid Tuesday.

CONTROLS FADE

Government Moves to Scrap Price Lids, Wage Curbs.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The administration's scrap-the-controls program picked up steam today as OPA yanked price lids off more food items and the White House prepared for speedier wage decontrol.

Coffee and all vegetable fats and oils—margarine, mayonnaise and salad dressings — were declared ceiling-free.

Officials said the stage already is set for "accelerated" scrapping of wage controls. Dropping of wage curbs "will be automatic" as price lids drop off, since only industries under ceilings are tied at present to pay controls.

Green Heads AFL For 24th Year

CHICAGO — (INS) — William Green, 73, headed the American Federation of Labor today for the 24th consecutive year as the group ended its 65th annual national convention at Chicago.

Green and 14 other members of the AFL executive council were reelected unanimously yesterday, including John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers. Lewis was named to a vice presidency.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS

SANTIAGO, Chile—(U.P.)—Acting President Alfredo Duhalde resigned today and his place was taken by Minister of the Interior Juan A. Iribarren.

Hold 12 In Goering Inquiry

NUERNBERG — (AP) — Sources inside Nuernberg jail said today that 12 German employes were under constant scrutiny in connection with a three-man army board's closely veiled investigation of how, where and when Hermann Goering got the cyanide with which he beat the hangman by two hours Tuesday night.

These sources, unidentifiable by name, said the Germans were not under arrest. He described them as being "protectively held."

The secrecy surrounding the burial place of the one-time No. 2 Nazi and the 10 who died by the noose yesterday morning remained impenetrable.

Rumors without confirmation circulated in the corridors of the old prison that the 11 ringleaders of Adolf Hitler's wrecked Fascist state might have been buried at sea.

The army board investigating the Goering suicide, meanwhile, called in, one by one, every person who conceivably might have had some connection with the pudgy reichsmarshal in his last two days and nights in the death block.

Col. B. C. Andrus, prison commandant, insisted that he believed his own personnel innocent of any wrong-doing. He said bitterly that a German attorney, perhaps in the last days of the trial, may have given Goering the poison vial that enabled him to take his own life.

A guard said the seven Nazis who escaped with prison terms received the news of the execution of the ten Nazis non-committally, but gave the impression that they were pleased Goering had escaped the rope.

13 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Passenger Craft Downed By Snowstorm in Wyoming.

LARAMIE, Wyo —(AP)— A passenger plane crashed three miles west of Laramie early today, killing the crew of three and the 10 passengers, acting Albany county Coroner E. E. Knight said.

The plane crashed in a blinding snowstorm shortly after 1 a. m. as it came in for a landing at the Laramie airport. Eleven persons were killed instantly and two died after being brought to the Laramie hospital.

Knight said the plane apparently was eastbound and had intended to land at Cheyenne but was turned back by bad weather.

The bodies were thrown clear of the wreckage which was scattered over an area of 300 square yards.

It was not known immediately whether the plans was operated by a private airline or the army.

Crestline Awards Sewer Contract

CRESTLINE — City council voted at an adjourned meeting last night, to award the contract for completion of the sewage and treatment disposal plant to Miller Thompson and company and Marcini Construction company of Detroit on their low bid of $181,-719.60.

Bonds at 2.31 percent were sold to the Braun Bosworth company of Toledo. The Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank was named as trustee.

The Crestline project was started before the war under WPA but was discontinued during the war years. Now it will be completed under the new contracts.

ENTIRE CITY ENDANGERED BY VANDALS

False Alarm Summons Firemen While Minor Blazes Being Fought.

Vandals last night endangered all Mansfield by sounding a false fire alarm while two fire companies fought minor blazes on the west side.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele said today the false alarm, turned in from the Western avenue school, concentrated all fire-fighting equipment on the west side, leaving much of the city unprotected.

When the school alarm came in, he said, he checked the school personally before dispatching the equipment because two other companies already were out of their stations. The check disclosed that the alarm was false.

He said the incident also emphasized the need for radio equipment in police squad cars. If another fire had broken out in another part of the city, he explained, radio-equipped police cars could have notified fire department personnel on the west side.

* * *

Five Other Alarms.

One company was called out at 8:15 p. m. to extinguish a grass fire at Woodhill and Overlook roads. A second engine went to Dawson avenue at 8:32 p. m. to put out a brush fire. The alarm box at Western avenue school was rung at 8:39.

Five other alarms were rung last night between 6:15 and 7:30 o'clock, but no damage resulted.

* * *

Special Police Guard.

Meanwhile, Chief of Police Meade K. Bates announced that six plainclothes men had been assigned to a special squad to prevent pre-Halloween vandalism.

The squad, which went on duty last night, was ordered to protect property and prosecute vandals. Chief Bates said the men would remain on the special assignment until after Halloween.

The Richland county sheriff's office reported two acts of vandalism last night. Mrs. John C. Hagerman, of Plainview avenue, said she found highway signs in her front yard this morning. E. G. Smith, who lives on the county line, road, said vandals burned three shocks of corn on his farm.

Duchess' Gems Taken as Duke Visits King

SUNNINGDALE, England—(INS) —Expensive presents from the Duke of Windsor to his American-born Duchess were reported stolen today by audacious thieves who helped themselves from her million dollar collection at secluded Ednam lodge.

The majority of the pieces, including blue sapphires, rubies, diamonds, and topaz, onyx and turquoise sets, were in a case in a bedroom. None of the royal family heirlooms was involved.

Scotland Yard ordered every known jewel thief rounded up.

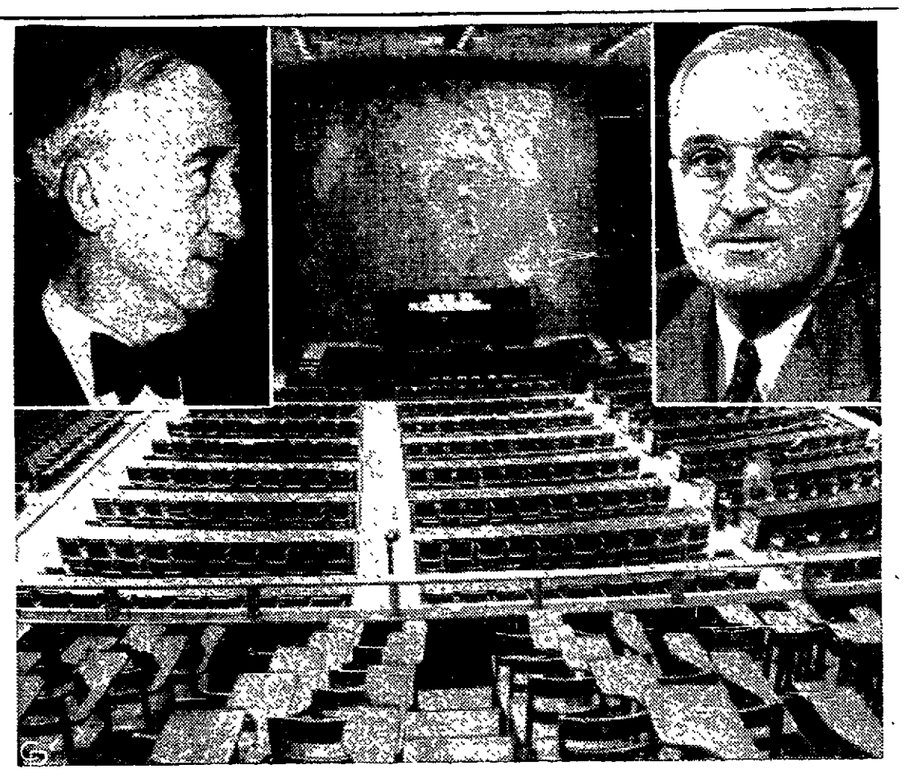
The burglary was staged while the Duke was visiting King George VI at Buckingham Palace for the first time since his recent return to England.

It was learned that the Duchess discovered the theft when she visited her room briefly at dinnertime yesterday.

Santa's Pack Will Carry Bigger Load

CHICAGO —(AP)— Santa Claus is going to carry a bigger pack of toys for distribution to the nation's children this Christmas—his heaviest load since 1941—say toy manufacturers.

And many of the toys that were not available during wartime and last Christmas, such as electric trains, skates, construction sets, bicycles and metal wagons, will be in his big sack. But, toy makers at the merchandise mart said, these articles which vanished during wartime will be back in very limited quantities.



THE WHITE HOUSE announced today that President Truman has accepted the invitation to address the United Nations assembly at Flushing Meadows, N. Y., when it convenes there Oct. 23 in a chamber, above, at the City of New York building. The chief executive's speech is reported to be scheduled within a day or so of the appearance of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, left, on the rostrum.

Missing 3 Days, Aged Woman Found In Thicket

Miss Maude Walker, 67, who had been missing from the Richland county home since last Sunday, was found yesterday in heavy underbrush near the home and was in serious condition today in the Shelby Memorial hospital.

The aged woman apparently had been lying in a coma for more than three days, Grover Dickson, superintendent of the home, said today. She was unconscious when found and authorities were unable to question her.

Dickson said Miss Walker was found by a county employe about three-fourths of a mile from the home in a thicket which "is almost unpenetrable."

She had been the object of an intensive search by police, sheriff's officers and county home workers.

The Shelby hospital reported today that she had not recovered consciousness since she was taken there about 3 p. m. yesterday.

Miss Walker has been a resident of the county institution for the last 10 years. Her home is in Michigan and she has no known relatives in this area, Dickson said.

BYRNES HOME FROM PARLEY

Conference Not 'Failure,' Secretary Claims.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State Byrnes arrived home from the Paris peace conference today and declared the 21-nation conclave had "made progress" towards establishing organized peace in Europe.

It certainly cannot be called a "failure," Byrnes told newsmen at National airport as he stepped off President Truman's personal plane the "Sacred Cow," which brought him across the Atlantic.

The secretary went immediately to the state department where he planned to telephone President Truman and arrange an appointment.

This get-together will be the first personal meeting of Byrnes and Mr. Truman since Henry A. Wallace criticized Byrnes' policies toward Russia and then was ousted from the cabinet.

Tomorrow night Byrnes will make a radio report to the nation at a time still to be announced.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who accompanied Byrnes, said there were both "peace credit and peace debit at Paris but on the whole the balance shows a net advantage for peace."

Byrnes' return from the conference, where he was in almost constant conflict with Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov, coincided with new indications that American relations with Russian bloc countries are worsening.

Byrnes' speech is expected to deal with the whole range of Chinese Communists Mum on Chiang's Peace Offer.

NANKING — (INS) — Chinese Communist reaction was awaited today to a new offer of an internal peace settlement from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The Communist spokesman, Chou En-Lai, offered no immediate comment for publication.

Chou has been in Shanghai for the greater part of the time since the breakoff of peace negotiations. Mediators from China's Democratic league, a minor political party, were reportedly attempting to persuade Chou to reopen peace discussions.

ASHLAND JURY FREES BRIGGS

Returns 'Not Guilty' Verdict in Berry Patch Slaying.

ASHLAND—Charles E Briggs, 62-year-old Lake township farmer, was free today after an Ashland jury returned a verdict of not guilty yesterday to a charge of second degree murder in the berry patch shooting of Mrs. Roger McKinley. The case went to the jury in mid-afternoon.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated a little more than two hours. The acquittal came after four ballots by the jurors, it was learned.

Mrs. McKinley was slain July 31 while gathering berries on Briggs' farm as her husband and three small children watched.

The defense sought to prove that the shooting was not premeditated and that Briggs had fired only to frighten away intruders.

Briggs took the stand in his own behalf to testify that the gun he used had been purchased several years ago from a mail order house and that its sight was faulty.

A gun expert testified that the .22-caliber rifle used in the shooting was faulty and would shoot below the intended mark.

Briggs still faces a $25,000 damage suit filed by McKinley as result of the death of his wife.

LOSSES HEAVY

56 Labor Disputes Strangle New York's Economy.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fifty-six industrial disputes, now subject to labor-management deliberations, are slowly strangling the economy of the nation's premier city, effecting a loss of incalculable millions of dollars.

Docks, warehouses and railroad sidings in the city—which normally does a $10,000,000,000 annual business in exports and imports alone—are piled high with thousands of tons of freight unmoved because of the maritime and truck strikes.

Several hundred stores of two large food chains are closed because of the trucking dispute.

Steel Worker Goes Berserk In City Home

By JOHN MINE

A mother and son were shot to death at their Springmill street home today and the husband-father is near death of self-inflicted bullet wounds.

Dead are Mrs. Michael Kalis, 50, and her 24-year-old son, John Kalis, of 388 Springmill street. At General hospital, Mike Kalis, 50, lies dying of wounds in the face.

Police reported that the elder Kalis ran amok with a .38-caliber pistol about 10:30 a. m. at the home. They said he first shot his son and then the mother as she tried to flee from the house.

An eye-witness to the shooting of Mrs. Kalis said she saw Kalis pursue her from the house with his pistol blazing and "deliberately pump a final shot into her" as she lay on the lawn of the home.

Mrs. L. A. Smith, 391 Springmill street, said she heard screams and rushed from her house across the street from the Kalis home. She said she saw Mrs. Kalis fall to the ground at the foot of the front porch stairs, her arms flaying as the man continued to fire at her.

The man (she identified him as Kalis) then walked back up the porch stairs and turned the gun on himself, shooting himself in the face.

The boy fell dead on the front porch where he ran in an apparent attempt to escape. Officers said that a bloody trail from the kitchen to the front porch indicates that the boy was shot in the kitchen and fled to the porch.

Shot In Chest.

Police said they don't know how many shots were fired but said that the boy was shot in the chest. The front porch was spattered from end-to-end with what police described as "lung blood."

John was an Army veteran and holder of the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in action in the South Pacific. He was discharged from the Army nearly two years ago after six months treatment in an Army hospital near San Francisco.

Mrs. Kalis was reported to have been in the basement washing clothes when she heard the shooting. She rushed to the first floor of the two-story single home apparently attempted to grab the telephone.

Officers said that the phone was torn from the wall by Kalis and that he then followed Mrs. Kalis. He first shot at her through a screen door, before following her outside to fire additional shots into her.

Four empty .38 caliber cartridges found on a dining room table and scattered, loaded shells indicated that Kalis attempted to re-load the gun as the mother dashed for the phone.

Only motive for the double-slaying, police have been able to uncover so far, they said, was Government Reveals Plan to Speed Housing.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The government revealed plans today for construction of 100,000 aluminum houses in 1947 to speed the veterans' housing program.

A number of other metal-working firms are also included in the program.

HALF-WAY MARK NEARS FOR FUND

Industry Contributes $26,184 of $40,163 Total So Far.

Goal	$94,067
Raised	$40,163
Needed	$53,904

Mansfield's Community Fund campaign leaders forecast today that the half-way mark in the $94,067 drive would be reached by tomorrow as campaign receipts reached $40,163 at noon.

Friday will also represent the half-way mark in the 10-day drive, which ends Oct. 23.

Industry's total was stepped up to $26,184 by contributions of $6,-700. Up-town divisions with a $32,430 goal, reported only $13,979 raised. Industry's goal of $63,000 is two-thirds of the campaign load.

Up-town divisions reported these totals: auto, $352; construction, $692; education, $705; financial, $2,215; food, $1,085; professions, $2,978; public employes, $388; public services, $693; retail, $1,646; women's division, $3,225.

W. E. Slabaugh, jr., general campaign chairman, said several workers were holding up reports until after paydays Saturday.

Slabaugh added that several Mansfield employes, who live in surrounding towns, have asked if they should contribute to the Mansfield campaign or give to their local drives. He said that a national agreement of the Community Chests of America states that persons contribute to the funds in the cities where they are employed.

Another unit worker to go over the top on his fund goal today was John Shook, chairman for the attorneys in the professional division He turned in $1,186, or $286 above his goal of $900.

Airlines Join City In Bid to Win Around-Compass Trunkline Service

A coordinated campaign to procure around-the-compass trunkline air service for Mansfield is being mapped by the city and at least two major airlines, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn revealed today.

A formal appeal has been made to the Civil Aeronautics board to authorize "adequate" north-south, east-west trunklines here, Vaughn said.

He said that representatives of United Airlines and Trans-World airlines have indicated that they will join in efforts to procure more than feeder-line service for Mansfield.

The city has already filed with the CAB an exception to its examiner's recommendation that Mansfield be authorized only a Cleveland-to-Columbus feeder line.

The city takes exception to the fact that the examiner's recommendation does not provide for adequate north-south and east-west trunkline service.

Vaughn said that United and TWA representatives have informed him that they, too, are planning to file exceptions to the recommendation. The examiner recommended that Great Lakes Airlines, Inc., be authorized to provide feeder line service and turned down United's request to provide trunk line service.

The mayor said that the city also has formally applied for permission to appear at an oral examination in Washington to present its arguments for trunk line service.

The hearing probably will not be held for two to four months, Vaughn has been informed.

The city is concerned principally with procuring east-west trunk line service, Vaughn said, because a survey shows some 70 per cent of its business and travel is conducted in that direction.

PLYMOUTH, Wis — (INS) — The most surprised lad in Wisconsin today was Robert Marth, 16, of Plymouth.

Bob saw a sparrow perched on the wheel of a wagon standing in a farmer's field yesterday, took his rifle and fired at it. He missed, so he tried again.

His second shot was followed by a tremendous explosion that shook Plymouth like an earthquake, smashing windows and loosening plaster in more than 100 dwellings, stores and factories. The wagon held a load of 1,300 pounds of dynamite, which was detonated by the shot.

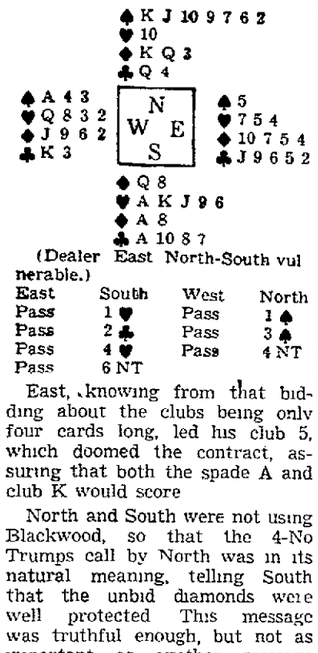
Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Desirability of a major suit contract, instead of No Trump, is so great that ordinarily both partners should give their side every possible chance to land in one if a sound one is in the cards Consequently, when one holds a major of six cards or more, he should usually try to disclose that length by either making three bids of it, or else by bidding the suit twice before showing another. That revelation will tell the man across the table that two cards of the suit would constitute adequate support.



(Dealer East North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♥	Pass	4 NT
Pass	6 NT

East, knowing from that bidding about the clubs being only four cards long, led his club 5, which doomed the contract, assuring that both the spade A and club K would score

North and South were not using Blackwood, so that the 4-No Trumps call by North was in its natural meaning, telling South that the unbid diamonds were well protected This message was truthful enough, but not as important as another message North could have given at that stage His correct bid was 4-Spades, to let South know his major suit was at least six cards in length, since it would have been his third bid of it

That call could not have been interpreted by South as indication of weakness by North, who had already shown the approximate strength of his hand with the jump bid of 3-Spades after South's 2-Clubs If South had heard the third bid of spades, he would have known that his two cards of the suit were enough to make it the trump, especially since they contained the valuable Q South would have taken that game bid to 6-Spades, which could not have been beaten by any defense Nothing would have been lost except one trick to the trump A Mission Finds Iron Curtains Dividing 4 German Zones.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The Allies have made little progress toward fulfilling their Potsdam pledge to re-educate the German people for democracy and peace, a U. S. educational mission to the reich are reported.

They have failed because no proper economic basis for democracy exists in Germany, the mission said.

George F. Zook, chairman of the group of 10 leading U. S. educators, said that "iron curtains" divide the four zones of Germany and the German people are being taught four brands of so-called democracy.

Truck Driver Fined In 3-Car Crackup

Charged with unsafe operation of a truck which reportedly sideswiped three parked cars, Willard F. Schriber of Maple Heights was fined $15 and costs yesterday in traffic court.

Schriber pleaded innocent, asserting that he had "no knowledge" of the accident which allegedly occurred on Park avenue east last Friday about 5 p. m.

He was flagged down by a police cruiser nearly five miles from the scene and officers testified that they found bits of red glass on the truck's bumper, believed to have been part of a tail-light of one of three damaged cars.

Samuel Subow of Columbus forfeited a $25 bond by failing to appear for hearing on a speeding charge.

One of the looniest—and funniest—acts in the big time today is that of "Professor Lamberti," an artist who plays the xylophone so vociferously that most of his clothes fly off in the process.

The eminent Professor parks a huge wad of chewing gum under his instrument before he begins, leers at his audience, and announces that his first number will be "The Stiffening Movement from Rigor Mortis."

He adds. "You've heard xylophonists of every rank, but I'll bet you never heard one as rank as me." The Prof. is called upon for encore after encore. The fact that a beautiful assistant is doing a provocative strip-tease behind him may have something to do with the spectators' insatiable appetite for the xylophone interpretation of "If Wishing Could Make It So." Prof. Lamberti avers that one music-lover was so carried away by the performance, it cost him fourteen bucks to get back to the theater.

Mrs. George Root, 307 Ashland Ave., Detroit, says, "My cakes are always tops now that I use Velvet. Whenever I try another cake flour, I realize how wonderful Velvet is."

Mrs. Root knows Velvet. She is one of the many good cooks who have helped give Velvet its leadership. Why not follow her example and use Velvet for all your baking.

Where VELVET Is Best Known

Women Buy More VELVET Than Any Other Cake Flour

Actual Survey Proves Velvet Ahead of All Other Cake Flours

An amazing independent survey actually showed that where Velvet is best known women buy more Velvet than any other cake flour—no matter what the price.

There's a reason for this. They say they get the best results when they use Velvet. The tenderest, flakiest pastry—the fluffiest, lightest cakes—that's what every woman wants, and Henkel's Velvet Cake Flour can help you to get them.

Velvet is such a wonderful flour because its quality is carefully controlled. It's uniform—every bag just the way it should be.

Just try this great flour and see if you don't join all the other good cooks who say, "Velvet's tops."

PEACH UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup brown sugar firmly packed
Dash salt
2½ tin of peach halves, well drained
⅞ cup sifted Velvet Cake Flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup water
Few drops almond extract
Tart red jelly

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet or a heavy cake pan. Remove from heat and stir in the sugar and dash of salt. Arrange peach halves in syrup, hollow side down.

Sift flour, measure, and resift 3 times with baking powder, and salt. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Gradually add ½ of the sugar and beat until light. Add water and extract and mix well. Add flour mixture gradually and mix lightly. Beat egg whites until almost stiff. Add remaining sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture stands in peaks. Fold into batter lightly but thoroughly. Pour over peaches and bake in a moderate oven 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes. Turn out onto serving plate. Fill each peach cavity with jelly and serve immediately.

6 to 8 servings

Coupons that entitle you to scarce aluminum ware are still in every bag of Velvet Flour.

OLD PINTAIL ARRIVES

Two opinions always are Worth much more than one by far.

—Peter Rabbit.

If you get the same opinion from two folks you are in much less doubt about a matter, but if the two disagree you are in greater doubt, wondering which if either is right. So more than one opinion helps you to know whether to doubt or not to.

At the edge of the water near a little opening in the wild rice where Mrs. Black Duck and Mr and Mrs. Quack the Mallard Ducks had met sat Peter Rabbit. As usual he was full of curiosity as he looked and listened. The Quacks had just come down from the great nesting grounds in the north and had brought bad news. They said that there were fewer Ducks this year to make the long southern flight than there had been for a long time and declared that the chief reason was that there were too many gunners.

"Fewer Ducks and more hunters can mean only one thing, still fewer Ducks until there are none at all," said Mrs. Quack gloomily.

"Unless they stop hunting for a while and give us Ducks a chance," said Mr. Quack.

"Or are satisfied to kill fewer," said Mrs. Black Duck.

"All other hunters kill just to eat, one at a time, but not those two-legged hunters. They seem to want to kill as many as they can all at once and then do it right over again. Many times have I seen half or more of a flock killed or hurt before the others could get away," declared Mrs. Quack.

Just then all three stretched their heads high to listen. "Some one coming," said Quack in a low tone.

There was the sound of wings approaching swiftly, then a fast-flying bird crossed above them and disappeared from their sight. "Old Pintail," said Mrs. Quack. "He'll be back."

"How do you know it was Pintail?" asked Peter Rabbit. He had known it was a Duck but which branch of the Duck family it belonged to he had no idea.

"Didn't you see his tail?" asked Mr. Quack.

"I didn't notice it," Peter confessed. "All you Ducks have such short tails that I didn't think about it. You folks fly so fast that your tails all look alike."

"So all Ducks have short tails, do they? Old Pintail is coming back, so take another look, Peter Rabbit," said Mr. Quack. He looked somewhat disgusted.

"Quack, quack, quack!" called Mrs. Quack as once more Pintail passed over them.

Peter looked at his tail. It was a long tail, especially long for a Duck. It was slender and pointed, so slender that had Pintail been a little farther away Peter would have been excused for not seeing that tail. It is from that tail that Pintail takes his name.

He flew low over the rice and rushes, circled, set his wings, a Duck's way of applying the brakes as it were, and lightly splashed onto the water. He landed beyond them. At once he swam to join them.

"I take it you feel safe here or you wouldn't be here. If it is safe for you it is safe for me," quacked Pintail.

He was handsome. In his way he was as handsome as Mr. Quack. His head was rich dark brown with a white streak on each side. His neck was long and slender, mostly white in front, as was his waistcoat. His coat was chiefly soft gray with black and white markings on the back. But Peter had eyes only for Pintail's tail. Now that he was on the water it was cocked up and Peter could see that the middle feathers were much the longest and narrow.

"Is Mrs. Pintail with you?" asked Mrs. Quack.

"No," said Pintail sadly. "She started with me. You can guess the rest."

"A two-legged hunter?" asked Mr. Quack.

"With a fire stick. What chance have we Ducks got?" replied Pintail.

The next story: "A Duck's Life."

Former Simpson Teacher Describes Quaint Festival

Miss Jane Wagner, former teacher at John Simpson Junior high school, who now is teaching in Chuquicamata, Chile, today described in a letter to the News-Journal the quaint and dramatic festival and religious celebration at Ayquina, Chile.

The school teacher said the observance, held annually in honor of the Virgin of Guadalupe, a Catholic religious figure, was "fascinating."

She commented on the contrast between the religious and the "fun-making," and the combination of modern and primitive ways of living, as shown in the use both of ancient native costumes and such modern developments as buses and loudspeakers.

Pagan Ceremony.

"The ceremony itself is pre-Spanish and, therefore pagan," Miss Wagner said. "Yet the Virgin, surrounded by a wreath of paper flowers, dominates it all.

"The square-cornered church and loud speaker seem modern enough, but the heavy Bolivian women, who wear their hair in braids and carry babies on their backs are innately primitive."

She described the colorful costumes of the natives.

"Some wore red satin with peacock feathers in their hair, managing somehow to simulate American Indians," she said. "Others, in sparkling blue and white, looked like drum majors from Middletown.

Kaleidoscope of Color.

"There was a wooly bear; a condor with real feathers in his evil wings; Llamas in scarlet tights with sparkling silver coins ornamenting their purses and bolleros; a squat little man whose blond wig hung down the back only."

Miss Wagner said groups of dancers swirled across the plaza in "a kaleidoscope of color and movement."

"Nothing is coordinated, yet each single group kept its line straight and performs with the precision of the Rockettes," she said. "The music is in a minor key, played with reed pipes and drums, and utilizing only five or six notes."

based on reports that the family has recently been having numerous arguments.

Other sources said that Kalis was ill and had spent some time in a sanitarium.

The family came to Mansfield about six years ago from West Virginia. Two daughters, Virginia, 25, and Christine, 22, who work at Mansfield grocery stores, both live at home. In addition, another son, Russell, is in the army.

Kalis was reported to have been been employed at the Empire Steel company corporation here while the son was an employe of the Park theater.

The family's home was modest and was part of a double-house at 386-388 Springmill street.

Hear Shots.

Numerous neighbors heard the shots fired but many of them said they thought at first that they were "back-fires" from autos. One man said he was awakened by the shots and then the woman's screams.

Another neighbor said she saw two girls running down the street about the time of the shooting and thought the screams were those of a dog which had been struck by a car.

A crowd of sixty persons quickly gathered to watch the victims being taken away in Wappner's ambulance.

Vets Get Priority On Surplus Homes

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The war assets administration today gave veterans next-to-top priority to buy permanent type housing structures and land at surplus army camps and war plants.

The structures include housing units built for war workers and servicemen, officers' quarters, staff houses and similar buildings. WAA said these, all built since September, 1939, are suitable for long-term occupancy and will be sold along with the land on which they are located.

'Wets' Win at Pumpkin Show

CIRCLEVILLE —(AP)— The 40th annual pumpkin show here was "wet" today under a decree issued by Judge Earl D. Parker of the Pike county common pleas court.

Judge Parker, who was assigned to the Pickaway county common pleas bench by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court, granted a temporary injunction yesterday restraining Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Police Chief William F. McGrady from enforcing a 58-year-old law banning liquor sales within two miles of an agricultural fair.

critical issues involved in United States-Russian relations. On top of clear indications that these issues generally were intensified rather than solved by the Paris meeting, the state department disclosed a dramatic new development on the very eve of the cabinet officer's return.

Officials said the United States had canceled a $40,000,000 surplus property credit to Czechoslovakia and in addition had suspended indefinitely a pending $50,000,000 rehabilitation loan to the Czechs by the Export-Import bank.

There was no official statement to this effect, but the evidence appears to be that at some critical moment in the long Paris struggle Byrnes himself ordered or approved the economic crackdown on Czechoslovakia.

Leaving Washington almost three months ago for the 21-nation conference, the secretary had hoped that when his Paris mission ended he would have peace treaties with the Balkan states, Italy and Finland fully accepted by the Big Four powers in line with his plan to restore organized peace to eastern Europe this year.

Instead, the Paris conference—which could only render advisory decisions to the Big Four—so intensified the division among the powers that the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France did not even approach the task of completing work on the treaty drafts. That job was set over until November 4 in New York.

Diplomatic authorities said, however, that the Paris conference should not be written off as a complete failure because it (1) had clarified issues and (2) had given the smaller nations a chance to speak their minds on the issues of peace making.

But there was no denial that the talks had failed completely to offer any solution for the conflict between the western powers and Russia.

Hog prices equaled Tuesday's weight and fat lambs sold for a record $28.

Although receipts rose sharply at Chicago, a large percentage of the cattle were paying the midwestern metropolis only a passing visit. Markets reported that more than 50 per cent of the cattle was taken by order buyers for slaughter in the east.

Meanwhile, a consumer opposition to the high retail prices was developing.

In Chicago, representatives of 72 organizations which are members of the Chicago Committee for Price and Rent Control, scheduled a meeting to organize buyers' opposition against inflationary prices.

Advises Discrimination.

The American Meat Institute, spokesman for 600 of the nation's meat packers, advised the public to "shop around for the best buys in meat" and not insist on "only the fanciest cuts."

The institute added:

"Nobody in the meat business controls prices. Consumers determine prices by what they are willing to pay for meat. That determines what retailers can pay meat packers for it, and finally, in turn, what the meat packers can afford to pay for meat animals.

"More meat is coming in the months ahead, and as supplies increase and approach the demand, the price is bound to level off. That's the law of supply and demand in operation."

A survey indicated that the increases were being passed to the consumers as retail prices zoomed from 30 to 50 per cent.

The much talked about "ability to pay" promises to become an important element in the augmented meat supply.

Among new books is one telling why "Many People Can't Help Getting Rich," but who has noticed any of them trying very hard."

Now that there has been at least partial recovery from concentration of interest on the World Series, how's for a look around to see if there's something that needs doing?

Keep An Eye On Those Price Jumps

WE HAVE now entered a period of "watchful waiting" in connection with removal of meat price controls—and the first reaction is not encouraging, in view of the quick jump in livestock prices to record highs.

These jumps will naturally be reflected in packing house, wholesale and retail prices, and it may be wondered—human nature being what it is—if outright profiteering on the part of a minority of unscrupulous operators can be avoided . . . in fact there has already been some evidence of this reported from large cities where meat supplies had reached a dangerously low ebb.

Whether or not the livestock shortage has been real or fictitious, there is no appearance of good reason for objection to importing some of Mexico's surplus cattle to help in restoring a balance between supply and demand in this country Previous objections to importation of meat had been based on representations that such procedure would be in competition with livestock interests in the United States. If, however, production of livestock in this country is insufficient to meet requirements—at reasonable prices—importation appears fully justified until supply and demand again get into balance.

If retail meat prices get so far out of hand as to work hardship on the millions of people in low income brackets there can be no doubt that further wage raises will be demanded by organized labor groups and that the plight of persons with non-expanding incomes will become even more serious than it already is.

Contemplated removal of wage controls, with restoration of collective bargaining as the method of reaching agreements between employers and employes, is much to be desired, IF it can be made effective in eliminating—or materially reducing—the friction that has resulted from government interference in this field.

There should be no forgetfulness, however, of the great danger of bringing on a period of sky-rocketing inflation to which the present bitter taste would seem mild in comparison.

Yes, Community Fund Benefits All

WHILE it is extremely gratifying that in the first two days of the Community Fund campaign more than 30 per cent of the goal has been achieved, there is no justification yet for jubilation.

A runner who sprints at the beginning of a race sometimes does not have enough wind left for a strong finish. Such an eventuality is not contemplated in this Fund drive. The industry and downtown divisions have made the strong start. It is expected that they will finish strong, too.

But this start is a challenge to other divisions in the drive to beat their quotas. It means that workers must battle to overcome any false state of mind among contributors who might be inclined to think: "Oh, things are going well enough. We can take it easy."

Actually the point to be remembered by everyone—workers, contributors and organizers—in this campaign is crystallized in the slogan EVERYBODY BENEFITS—EVERYBODY GIVES! Benefits of the Fund's work are community-wide. And this year they will be limited to the local community; there is no national appeal.

How extensive these benefits really are can never be fully told. They affect youth. They affect the needy. In a sense they are preventive of trouble in the community. In a larger sense they are nurture for the fiber of a healthful community life and spirit.

Yet, if the benefits cannot be fully expounded, the giving can be definitely traced to every resident of the city of Mansfield. The responsibility rests with all. And now is the time to willingly assume that responsibility.

Ask More Than 'Feeder' Air Service

IT WAS good to read yesterday that Mansfield is not going to take without a protest the decision of the Civil Aeronautics Board to grant only feeder airline service to the city.

City officials, feeling that good air service is necessary for a growing Mansfield, have filed an exception to the CAB approval of a single feeder line.

They are going to let the CAB know that Mansfield no longer regards itself as "just another small town"; that Mansfield has taken place among the fastest growing and most progressive cities in Ohio.

Mansfield has had the foresight to provide an airport large enough to accommodate heavy air traffic; it is the city's right to expect that commercial airlines, in their turn, will recognize that Mansfield is not content to be passed by without a stop.

Many Things ALMOST Finished

THE GOVERNMENT'S figures show a high rate of production in many needed lines, but the finished articles are either not on the market or are appearing in very small numbers.

A nation-wide survey by the Wall Street Journal shows that this condition is the result of bottlenecks caused by the lack of certain materials. Big inventories are being built up by some radio manufacturers, for instance, the radios being complete except for cabinets. Both lumber and labor shortages account for the lack of cabinets.

Seemingly small and unimportant items like copper wire can hold up the motor manufacturer, and large numbers of trucks are standing in yards waiting for some vital bit of mechanism.

This situation, which extends to many lines of manufacture, shows how little reliance can be placed upon statistics in determining the actual conditions which underlie production records. Tables and charts are all very well, but they can prove quite deceptive in describing actual conditions.

And then again, "Bring up a child in the way he SHOULDN'T go" and the result will probably be permanent.

Unscrambling German Finances Will Be Complicated Problem

By RAYMOND MOLEY

EVEN Hjalmar Schacht, erstwhile financial wizard, was dumbfounded when he learned, while in prison, of the financial wreckage left by Hitler. For as the fuehrer's end approached, he cut the dykes of inflation.

When the Nazis started their preparations for war, the German debt was at the low figure of about 4½ billion in prewar American dollars. The Nazis finally raised this debt to 160 billion in prewar American dollars.

The currency in circulation at the beginning of Germany's war preparation was a little less than 2½ billion in prewar American dollars. After Hitler's end, this had risen to 30 billion dollars.

In some occupation zones, that part of the money which was in banks was frozen. The Allies, moreover, fixed prices at the level reached at Hitler's death. The money not in the banks flowed into incredible black markets. The situation was and still is untenable. Those whose money is frozen in banks are helpless. The money at large supports only limited enterprises which can provide work and goods.

The whole wealth of Germany was never over 150 billion in prewar American dollars. It is certainly not over half that now. The national income was, in Germany's best years, a little over 25 billion dollars. Its burden of debt, including reparations due, is four times the national wealth.

Last spring, a group of American experts worked out a plan for the reorganization of German finances. The plan has recently been published, but it has not, apparently, been accepted by the British.

It provides, in the first place, that all monetary claims, public and private, shall be wiped out and replaced at ten per cent of their face value by obligations to be issued by a new "National Mortgage Institution."

All currency notes are to be replaced by new notes issued by the institution at ten per cent of face value. The new Mortgage Institution would then hold as backing for its obligations a mortgage on real property held by private and corporate business. The interest on the new bonds would be paid out of the receipts of the institution.

Provision is also made in the plan for indemnifying those who have been ruined by the Nazis. There are hundreds of thousands of such dispossessed persons who have returned and who will return to their native communities.

The basic strength of the new regime would be in the three-quarters of the land still held by former owners and the half of the houses still intact and occupied by former residents.

A vast amount of property, however, will never go back to former owners. They are dead, and in many cases there will be no living and legitimate claimants. Provision for the disposition of such property will have to be made.

The broad idea behind the whole plan is not new. It is based upon the provisions adopted in 1923 at the end of the great inflation, when the famous "Rentenmark" was created. At that time, the new currency was based on a four per cent mortgage of real estate and other corporate property. Under the proposed plan, 50 per cent of such property would be used as a basis.

This plan might well provide the elements of a stable standard of value. But its success would require some agreement among the Allies for the unification of Germany. And that agreement of course, still remains to be reached.

Farmer's Diary: "Imagination Pays Off."

"IMAGINATION," Great Uncle Malachi used to say, with that peculiar twinkle in his eye that foretold a certain type of story, . . . "Imagination is a successful man's first tool, no matter what he aims to accomplish. Reminds me of Abe Olson's boys and their field of stumps.

"Abe was a Swedish farmer with three sons. Bill and Ben were big towheaded six-footers with heavy muscles, ruddy cheeks and powerful fists, to settle every argument. Only about Sophie Sue they had not yet come to blows, because neither of them could be sure she would have him, even if he dared to ask her.

"Sophie Sue lived around the bend of the river—pretty little minx, and the biggest flirt in the county. Friendly, though, to old folks and kids . . . everybody liked Sophie. She had dark eyes and dimpled red cheeks and she rode a fast spotted pony. She was about seventeen, I reckon . . . she could drive her father's big oxen.

"The youngest Olson boy was 'Nubbin' by his brothers. Lean, he was, without height; wiry without much heft—a dreamer, you might say. He'd rather fish and hunt and rove the woods than work too hard, but he could handle an ax with the best of them. Abe would look at Nubbin and shake his head, say he took after his mother's people, and good stuff came in small packages,—but privately, I guess Abe wished he had been a girl.

"One day Abe called his sons together and said, "See that big field of stumps! It's the finest soil in the country, once the stumps are off! I'll do this. I'll mark it off into three strips, with the same number of stumps on each strip. Whichever of you clears off all the stumps first, and plows his field, will own both of the other strips, and I'll build a new house for him when he chooses a wife and the bans are read in the meetin'.

"Well—Bill and Ben got busy at once. They tugged and pulled and sweated—long hours with the ax, the shovel, the oxen to tear out and drag away the old gnarled roots and pile them up for burning. Nubbin wasn't around. He took his gun and his light ax and went off to the woods every afternoon . . . sometimes didn't come home till morning. His strip of stumps, over near the river, looked still untouched when the others were more than half finished. Seemed like he'd given up without even trying.

"Then before breakfast one morning—before they knew what he was up to—every single stump on that patch of land was afire! The wind blew away from the river, and the smoke from Nubbin's field got into his brothers' eyes. All they could see was that Nubbin and someone who helped him—somebody smaller than Nubbin, in boy's clothes—darted about with shovels and poles, tending to the various fires. Gradually, as the flames died down, they realized there had been careful prearrangement. The stumps were smoldering. Each had been banked with earth and moist clay from the riverside.

"Day and night for four days Nubbin stayed right there. His helper brought his meals to him—on Sophie Sue's spotted pony. One morning the last stump was leveled and they began to plow. Sophie Sue gleefully cracked the whip over her father's best oxen while Nubbin managed the plow handles.

"Bill and Ben were too overcome to say a word. Abe hugged his wife until he about cracked her ribs, and then went around chuckling. Next Sunday the bans were read for bright eyed Sophie Sue and bashful Nubbin. When asked how he managed it, Nubbin just said—"Use your own imagination!"

Truman Plans To Cut Army-Navy Budget Another Billion Dollars

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Both the army and navy are squawking privately but vigorously to President Truman over his determination to balance the budget at their expense.

Only way he can balance it is by chopping down army-navy expenditures. Anyone who looks over the budget sheet of the U. S. government can see that that is where the big expenditures are. Most civilian agencies were cut to the bone during the war and have continued that way. The army and navy, however, still are padded.

Therefore, Truman has already cut two billions from the army and navy, which brought howls of anguish from both. The army maintained it needed all the $7,263,542,400 voted it by congress and the navy said it needed all the $4,119,659,300—if they were to keep pace with Russia.

Despite their howls, however, Truman refused to budge on the two-billion cut. Furthermore, though it hasn't leaked out yet, he plans to cut another billion within the next few days or weeks.

Saving Navy Dollars.

Suggestion to navy admirals: It may seem like chicken feed to some people, but if you want to save a few thousand dollars, take a look at the Naval Air School at Olathe, Kans., commanded by one of your own Annapolis grads, Capt. W. M. Drane, Naval academy '30.

Captain Drane is now tearing down three enlisted men's barracks which cost $47,700 each to construct and which were only completed May 7, 1943, in order to use the lumber for quarters for himself, plus quarters for the base's executive officer.

Meanwhile, houses for veterans are stymied for lack of lumber. Meanwhile also, Captain Drane is not too uncomfortable. He is living in the married officers' quarters consisting of 27 rooms, while the executive officer is living in the bachelor officers' quarters which consists of 13 rooms.

Another saving the navy might make would be to sell the twelve electric refrigerators now idle at the Olathe air base. One has been loaned to Comdr. C. C. Clement for use in his private home. Veterans would be delighted to pay good money for these idle refrigerators.

Another way to save money would be to curtail the interesting flights which Captain Drane makes to Clarksville, Tenn., which happens to be his home. On one trip a twin-engine Beechcraft with Lieut. Comdr. L. D. Macomber as pilot picked up Drane's daughter and her girl friend and flew them back to Olathe, without entering either of the girls on the flight plan.

Three thousand naval personnel have been transferred away from Olathe, with only about 400 men remaining. Yet no furniture, equipment, iceboxes or buildings have been declared surplus.

All this may sound like chicken feed compared with the navy's tremendous wartime expenditures, but when you multiply possible economy at Olathe by possible economy at a hundred other stations, it runs into real dough.

Note—Another possible saving: For a long time, Comdr. W. M. Collins, Annapolis '34, and son-in-law of Adm. Charles P. Snyder, navy inspector general, lived in Kansas City and commuted thirty miles daily to Olathe in a Dodge sedan which belonged to the navy and was serviced daily in a navy garage.

How Committee Started.

Probably only three or four people know how the original Truman committee happened to be established. And since that committee was responsible for putting Harry Truman in the White House, the inside story of its founding has historic interest.

Senator Truman of Missouri was attending the inauguration of Governor Neely of West Virginia in 1940. At the inauguration, he met Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, then a freshman senator. At the governor's mansion in Charleston, they talked of Civil war history in which both always had been interested, including the graft which followed the Civil war.

"It's too bad congress never got around to investigating the Civil war graft," Truman remarked.

"As a matter of fact, it would be a good idea for congress to investigate the graft in defense industries right now," suggested Kilgore.

After some further discussion Truman announced that he was going right back to Washington to introduce a senate resolution calling for the creation of such an investigation committee. He did so and was immediately named chairman.

Senator Kilgore at first was not named as a member of the committee since he was a freshman senator. However, due to the fact that he had helped inspire the idea, Truman wanted him to serve. Therefore, he specifically asked the president of the senate to enlarge the committee and name Kilgore.

Intriguing fact is that Kilgore, who originally inspired the committee and served on it for six years, is now its chairman.

California's Unique Cross-Filing System.

LOS ANGELES — Georgia has her county unit system which gave here Gene Talmadge again by a minority of votes.

California has her cross-filing system. It has not served her that badly. But it has caused some developments interesting beyond her borders, affecting, as they do, congressional as well as state contests, and also Gov. Earl Warren, again being mentioned prominently as a possible Republican presidential or vice presidential candidate.

Consequently, there is increasing agitation now for doing away with cross-filing, and putting politics back on a strict party basis to increase party responsibility.

Under the cross-filing system, a candidate may file in the primaries of both parties. He may win both nominations, so that there is no contest in the general elections. That has happened, for example, in 10 of California's 23 congressional districts.

But, most importantly, it occurred also in the case of Governor Warren. He triumphed surprisingly by winning the Democratic as well as his own Republican nomination for a second term. So there is no real contest in November. There is no Democratic candidate, Attorney General Bob Kenny having lost his party's nomination to Governor Warren in the June 4 primary.

This makes for a situation where Jimmy Roosevelt, state Democratic chairman, has announced he will vote in November for Republican Governor Warren. There is nothing else for him to do, unless he doesn't vote, or votes for the Communist candidate.

Since Governor Warren in effect already is re-elected, there is no inducement for him to get out and campaign actively. Republicans are anxious that he do so They need his influence and prestige, now so high, to whip up their campaigns, notably that for young Senator William F. Knowland, who is having a hard fight with the Democratic candidate, Will Rogers, jr. Mr. Rogers incidentally, got 203,436 registered Republican votes among the 705,070 he received in his primary victory over Rep. Ellis Patterson.

Help would be welcomed by the GOP also in the campaigns for house seats this year, as well as for state offices, lieutenant governor and attorney general.

It is being pointed out, for example, in the case of the contest for lieutenant governor that there is a chance that John F. Shelley, the Democratic candidate, will win. If so, and if Governor Warren two years from now should be nominated and win either the presidency or vice presidency, then the state would be left in the hands of a Democratic governor.

It is being pointed out, for example, in the case of the contest for lieutenant governor that there is a chance that John F. Shelley, the Democratic candidate, will win. If so, and if Governor Warren two years from now should be nominated and win either the presidency or vice presidency, then the state would be left in the hands of a Democratic governor.

The cross-filing system also works in elections for the legislature. Governor Warren has had considerable trouble with his legislature, for which the lack of party responsibility is partly to blame. It makes it hard to crack the whip. He has to rely on those not members of his party, as, for example, Mr. Shelley in the state senate.

If Governor Warren is to be a formidable candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, it would help to have a legislative program on the books, as a record.

He has failed in some important measures hitherto. Republicans are expecting gains in the legislature from this election. Governor Warren's contribution actively to the campaign might help him with the new legislature.

But he has been holding back, and nobody knows whether he intends to pitch in and stump vigorously.

Wisconsin Disregards Progressive Party.

MADISON, Wis.—The political wheel has come full circle in Wisconsin and they are back to stalwart Republicanism with no frills or furbelows.

It is one of the most revealing political cycles in American history and, with talk of a third party in the air, a little background is in order. Wisconsin has had its third party. Today that party is as dead as the dodo bird—strictly a museum piece.

The Progressive party in Wisconsin was officially liquidated last March, with a funeral oration by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, jr., who announced he was returning to the GOP. But regular Republicans who had been fighting the various La Follettes for years would have none of him. He was defeated in the primary by young, ambitious, hard-campaigning Joseph R. McCarthy, a circuit judge and a veteran of some of the fiercest battles of World War II.

La Follette's defeat marked the end of Progressivism in the state, that means the end of the most persistent attempt to form an independent third party which this country has seen.

It was a native radical movement, getting its original drive from the fiery spirit of the elder La Follette, "Fighting Bob." It owed nothing to any foreign ideology, whether Socialist, Communist or whatever.

In its inception at least, the objective was to gain control over those interests outside the state that sought to dictate to Wisconsin. One of the earliest fights was to establish a railroad commission which would keep down freight rates that Wisconsin farmers regarded as unfair.

"Fighting Bob" ran for president as an independent in 1924 and carried only his own Wisconsin. In 1938, his son Philip, then governor, tried to get the Progressive party going on a national basis. Phil led off in a rally with fancy dramatic trimmings that copied some of the dramaturgy of Europe's mass parties. This attempt backfired and many old Progressives felt it blasted a party already withering away.

In this year's campaign, the native, homespun radicalism is absent. The winds of conflict blowing across the world shape the political pattern here as elsewhere.

The Communist issue is so important that Democratic State Chairman Robert Tehan publicly repudiated Edmund Bobrowicz, Democratic nominee for the house from the fourth district. Whether that helped the chances of other Democratic candidates is doubtful.

The Democratic organization has fallen away so rapidly that reliance is of necessity placed on the CIO-PAC. The Democratic candidate for the senate, Howard McMurray, University of Wisconsin professor and the only Democrat given an outside chance to win, must seek the industrial votes which supposedly the PAC can deliver.

The Red issue is being played hard by the Milwaukee newspapers. One paper published a list of Communists in the CIO and the PAC, with the names reported to have come through a convenient leak in the FBI.

The demise of the Progressive party is to me a sad phenomenon. While it was provincial and isolationist in its world outlook, it represented a genuine effort to restore local government and local controls. A lot of people prate about the domination of Washington and the need to restore home rule, but few of them do anything more than talk about it.

With interest in the Nov. 5 election gradually increasing, board of elections officials are expecting a greater number of requests for absent voters ballots.

So far only 22 have requested the ballots, Clerk Walter Underwood reported today.

Richland countians who expect to be unavoidably absent from the county on election day—at least 50 miles away—may obtain absent voters ballots up until 6:30 p. m. Oct. 31.

Special groups, concerning whom different regulations are in effect, are those who must use the absent war voters ballots the absent students ballots, and the disabled voters' ballots.

Anyone who is a member of the armed forces of the United States, the American Red Cross, the Merchant Marine, the Society of Friends or the United Service Organizations must use the absent war voters' ballots.

They may apply for the ballots themselves or have a relative apply. Relatives must be a wife or husband, father or mother, brother or sister, half-brother or half-sister, son or daughter, adopting parent or adopted child, step-child or step-parent, uncle or aunt, or nephew or niece.

The absent war voters' ballots must be obtained by a voter on his own behalf by noon of election day or by a relative by noon of Nov. 2.

Absent student ballots may be obtained between Oct. 16 and Oct. 31 by Richland countians who expect to make their residence in the county after their college career is ended.

Physically disabled voters — those too ill or handicapped to vote at their regular precinct polls—may obtain disabled voters ballots between Oct. 21 and Oct. 31. Application in writing must be accompanied by a sworn affidavit by two other qualified voters of the same precinct and by a physician's certificate describing the would-be voter's disabilities.

Army to Remove Misfit Officers

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The war department has adopted a new policy for ridding the army of inefficient and misfit officers, it was learned today.

The action came in the form of an order from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, outlining a procedure whereby such officers must show cause before a board why they should not resign from the service.

REJECTS CASE

Court Refuses to Rule on Unemployment Problem.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The Supreme Court has refused to decide whether a man whose religious beliefs kept him from working on Saturdays was eligible for unemployment benefits under Ohio state law.

The appellant, Max Kut of Cincinnati, asked the high court to review an Ohio Supreme Court ruling that since he had turned down two jobs which would have required him to work on Saturday, he was "not available" for work, and not therefore, entitled to compensation. Kut argued that this decision was discriminatory and deprived him of a constitutional guarantee of freedom of worship.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Want a Vacation from Marriage?

Alvin Blake went south on his vacation, for some fishing, and left his missus to enjoy a vacation from the corncob pipe, clothes in a heap, and pulps on the harmonica.

First few days, Martha enjoyed it—house neat and quiet, top back on the toothpaste, no morning mess from Alvin's midnight snacks (Al's partial to a bit of cheese and beer at bedtime).

Come the end of the week, she began to fidget; couldn't even read the Clarion, it looked so unmessed; didn't have any appetite with nobody to cook for. She was about to wire Al, when he barges home a week ahead of time, and she almost cries for gratitude. ("Felt the same way myself," says Al.)

From where I sit, those differences of habit and opinion — whether they have to do with corncob pipes, a glass of beer, or playing the harmonica, seem mighty trivial when you're separated. And they are, too!

B and PW Hear Mrs. Andrews At Annual Affairs Dinner

"LET'S Work Together for Better Communities" was the subject chosen by Mrs. Harold Andrews, associate professor of English literature of Ashland college, when she addressed members of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club last night. The annual public affairs dinner was held in observance of National Business Women's week at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom.

Mrs. Andrews stressed the similarity between the present day business women and women of the past and elaborated on the progress women have made in the world during the past 25 years.

She said, "Our problem today is one of the community in which we live; the world has shrunken in a fashion that we never dreamed of, that with all our communications and rapid transportation, we can become a very small and compact world; we should be alert and know what is going on in the world; that the way to safeguard our rights is to work for the American home; that our first responsibility is to our own communities—no one else can step in and do the tasks at hand; our communities have become local units and there has never been a time when we can do so much.

Miss Urith Funston, president, conducted a brief business meeting and made a welcoming address to the members and guests present. Mrs. Hales, representing the Ashland club was present, and also Mrs. C. J. Edberg of Chicago was a guest.

Mrs. Kenneth Greer gave two vocal solos, "Ho, the Piper," by Curran, and "I Talked with God Last Night," by Guion. Mrs. Valmore Isham closed the program by playing her own arrangements of excerpts of Chopin melodies which she termed, "A Taste of Chopin." She followed this with an encore, "Doing What Comes Naturally" played in concert style.

Three new members were presented by Miss Virginia Dye, membership chairman, Mrs. Paul Schultz, Mrs. Grace McCausland and Mrs. Golda McCracken.

Mrs. G. W. Casperson headed the hospitality committee.

The next dinner meeting of the club will be at the Legion home on Nov. 13 with Miss Stella Arras and Mrs. Guy Guthrie serving as hostesses with their committees.

There will be an executive board meeting at 7:00 p. m. on October 30 in the Larwill room of the public library.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

A LEGEND OF BROADWAY—This is the story of the growth of a street. Fifty-second st. west, the short, noisy neon thoroughfare that is blocked off by fancy Fifth ave. and the shabby Ave. of the Americas.

Flash back to the early 1930s. Apple peddlers and 3.2 beer, bank holidays and Eugenie hats. Crosby and Colombo, Russell Ryder and Owney Madden, miniature golf and six-bit burlesque It was a period of indecision, of shifting sands and changing tides And it is music history that music history is made in times like that.

Fifty-second st. had two clubs. The haven of the nose-tilted set, Twenty-One, and the gregarious cafe for the anybody set. Leon and Eddie's. Musicians had their saloons and poolroms, but no hangout with chairs and tables. So a group of recording and studio stars pooled their funds and gambled well. They picked an empty basement on the street, paid two months' rent, and spread the word about the opening to their own kind. The gamblers were Lennie Hayton, Jack Jenny and Mannie Klein—stars in their field. From New Orleans (where else?) they brought up a young Italian lad, Louis Prima, and his combination. They named the cellar The Famous Door and opened on the night of Feb. 5, 1935. That was the actual birthdate of the street as we know it today.

* * *

It was not the usual opening night of the period. No liquor salesmen or music publishers or newspapermen or playboys with chorus dolls. Instead, the fighting Dorsey brothers, the bespectacled Benny Goodman, the record-maker Red Nichols. The other famous sorrel-tops Red McKenzie and Red Norvo, the fiddle-mad Joe Venuti, and far against the wall, the Negro greats, Ellington and Armstrong. Opening night was Musician's Night at The Famous Door.

* * *

The kid from tradition-soaked New Orleans stepped on the tiny platform at 11 o'clock. From force of habit, the men in the musician-audience tapped their feet or threw downbeats with their hands. He held his trumpet in his right hand, flattened his left against the men and said: "Play pretty for the people!" They were off with "Chinatown." The cognoscenti swayed, silent and happy. Prima took the mute off his horn and as he pointed toward the ceiling Louis Armstrong yelled: "Blow the tin often the roof, boy!"

* * *

Two o'clock came and the famous name bandleaders from the hotels and nightclubs poured in, huddled against the bar or stood by the wall and felt at home. Then began an extraordinary jam session. Pee Wee Russell and Benny Goodman on the clarinets, Bunny Berigan on the trumpet, Fats Waller on the piano, Jack Teagarden and Tommy Dorsey on the trombones, Benny Carter and Johnny Hodges on the saxophones—with Prima leading in his shuffling, grinning, happy-as-a-clam-with-a-big secret style.

* * *

Word spreads fast in this biggest village on earth and the public arrived the next night. There was little room left for the musicians who understood what it was all about, but they came just the same, from their stands and their Charlie's Taverns, at odd hours. They sat in with the band when the going got too tough for their musical blood and while Prima pleaded: "Play pretty for the people," they closed their eyes and played for themselves Martha Raye, then a kid on the upgrade, came in the third night, listened, was captivated and sang whenever Louis played a number that had lyrics. She was the first soloist for free on the 52nd st. musical log. It was tht kind of a place.

* * *

There is no actual count that I know of, but I believe there have never been less than 15 nightclubs on 52nd st. in the years following its musical birth. I do know that at least 50 have opened and closed in the past decade. But they keep coming, out of nowhere, into nowhere, and 52nd st. must go down in musical annals as the street of genuine jazz.

Eddie Condon summed it up when he said: "I advise a young musician to study in the daytime and go to the colleges on 52nd st. at night."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 18.

It is probable that a direct and concentrated marshalling of the forces and faculties, together with a change of techniques, plans and programs, may bring some constructive and gratifying results. A revised state of mind, based on amiable, tactical and practical conduct, might be the means of enlisting the support of those in influential places, ready to finance workable and sound propositions. Work toward this benign end for progress, health and peace of mind.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to put into constructive channels all practical ideas, plans and techniques with energy, concentrated and aggressive action. New propositions of major importance may count upon the cooperation of those in important positions, who may be attracted by sound ideas, enterprise, sincerity and initiative. A safe and sane revision of plans, with systematic methods and amiable conduct, might bring pleasant reactions on health, family and peace of mind.

A child born on this day will have energy, skill and ingenuity for important projects and progress in life, winning support and preferment from those in high places.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Child Could Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it's hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. No cooking needed. It's no trouble.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, and makes breathing easy. If not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Science Hopes to View Atom By Means of New Microscope

PRINCETON, N. J.—(U.P.)—Science may be able to see the atom through the eyes of the electron microscope, thereby opening up new avenues of approach to the use of atomic energy in industry and medicine, according to Dr. James Hillier.

Hillier, who helped in the development of this super-microscope that does not use glass lenses, is working now on a new type electron machine at the RAC laboratories here.

The electron microscope theoretically already can bring the atom into visible view, but the best results so far is magnification great enough to let the eye see a molecule which is composed of atoms.

New Model Stronger.

This new model is 100 times stronger than the best of the ordinary visible microscopes, going up to magnification of 200,000 times. It looks simple to operate, but it is a complex instrument.

The microscope stands about six feet high and its principle briefly is to generate electric beams which are shot through magnetic fields, serving as lenses, and onto the specimen being examined.

The magnification shows on a fluorescent screen, similar to that used in television. With a flip of a switch, the screen can be removed and the magnified specimen photographed. The exposure is usually four to five seconds.

Biologists do not seem concerned that live tissue or cells may not be used in the electron microscope. They feel that the greater magnification far exceeds that disadvantage. The specimen must be placed in a vacuum which naturally would dry it out and kill it. Even then if the specimen were not killed, the powerful electric beams would finish the job. In some cases, the electron-beams have disturbed the make-up of molecules and many times have separated specimens.

Possibilities Great.

The possibilities of the electron microscope both in industry and medicine are many, Hillier believes. It already has been used in detecting faulty metal and for the testing of paints and oils.

Some biologists think the electron microscope may have a big part in the discovery of the cause of cancer. Medical scientists are agreed that more must be learned of the cancer cell before any definite progress can be made toward finding a cause or a cure for the disease. This, the electron microscope with its powerful magnification, may be able to do.

Hillier described present results of his machine like this:

"It is just the same as though we were transplanted to the planet Mars and started looking around for the first time. It is quite obvious that the first glance would have little significance for us."

C. of C. Safety Reports List Industrial Mishaps.

Three persons suffered permanent injuries in Mansfield industrial accidents during August to boost the total to nine for the first nine months of this year.

This was reported today by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce safety council, based on reports of 162 firms competing in the C. of C.'s annual accident prevention campaign.

Of the more than 16,000 employes who participated in the contest in August—largest monthly total this year—four suffered broken bones, 20 lost more than seven days work and 16 lost less than seven days work because of industrial accidents.

There were 43 accidents in August, second highest monthly figure this year. Accident total through August was 282. No participating employe died as the result of an industrial accident or suffered a permanent disability through August.

COUNCIL OKAYS BUCYRUS WATER TOWER PROJECT

In Face of Higher Insurance, Unanimous Approval Given By Solons.

BUCYRUS—Pressed by the Ohio inspection bureau threat of increased fire insurance rates Bucyrus City council Tuesday night approved the acceptance of bids for construction of an overhead water tank, at the same time expressing its belief that bids presented for the job were "too nigh"

Council's action followed a three-hour debate among city officials, Mayor R. L. Hertzer and Engineer Floyd Browne of Marion concerning the bid for the erection of the Bucyrus standpipe. The bid was $30,000 higher than that submitted by the same firm at Delphos for erection of a tank of the same size.

Bids for the Bucyrus job for the tank, supports and foundation total more than $90,000 The Chicago Bridge company was low bidder for construction of the tank with its bid of $74,790 The Ohio Engineering company suomitted a quotation of $19,730 for the foundation, including landscaping of the grounds Plans for landscaping have been abandoned at this time.

Council delayed action on legislation designed to give greater power to the fire chief in making inspections with the view of eliminating fire hazards, when City Solicitor Paul Kennedy asked for further time in drawing up the legislation.

Guild Workers Sew 800 Items

SHELBY—More than 800 items were made for Memorial hospital during the past month by members of the hospital guild, Mrs. Charles Nothacker, sewing chairwoman in charge of the project, announced today.

Eleven members of the guild gave five hours of their time to the hospital to make 403 four by fours, 124 gauze dressings, 120 peripads, 45 cotton dressings, 86 fluffs and eight large dressings.

The surgical dressing workers have made 21 receiving blankets, 173 pads and seven baby shirts, Mrs. Raymond Osborne, chairwoman in charge of the project, disclosed. Twenty workers gave 80 hours of their time to the surgical dressing division's work.

The guild has called off the minstrel show planned for December to raise money for the hospital work. Instead, a rummage sale will be held Feb. 20, 21 and 22 to bring in funds for the work. Mrs. Clayton Mayer is chairwoman of the guild's board.

More workers are needed to sew each Tuesday from 1 to 4 p. m. at the hospital building.

GALION SEEKS TO HALT CITY STREET WORK

Injunction to Be Sought Until Changes Are Approved By City Engineer.

GALION—An injunction to stop further building improvement on Hettrick avenue changing and diverting of sanitary sewer, until changes are made and plans approved by the city engineer, will be made by the city of Galion.

At the regular meeting of city council Tuesday night, City Solicitor F. M. Shumaker was instructed to seek an injunction after it was pointed out that Hettrick avenue was cut down from 66 feet to 50 feet, making a 16-foot offset, and uneven street.

If the street were straightened and made 66 feet wide to correspond with its extension to the south, which is the present North Liberty street, an excavation now being made for the basement of a new home, would be out in the street, it was explained.

Mayor William Amann said Tuesday he thought the matter might be settled without going through with the injunction, by conferring with R. J. Kennedy who bought the lot where the excavating is being done. The addition where Hettrick avenue is located is owned by Wade Stevens, and from whom the lots have been purchased.

In other actions at council meeting, an ordinance to provide full pay for city firemen after they serve the 90-day probationary period was given its third reading and passed.

Council also passed an ordinance creating the position of shovel operator and grader operator at $1 an hour.

Clerk Ben Romine was instructed by council to write the Crawford County game warden, Fred Ernst, and ask that the state re-stock the Amann reservoir with fish.

Other business of council included the re-election of Councilmen Harry Volk and A. A. Connor as members of the police pension board. The mayor's report of $311.50, for collections during the month, was accepted.

Fire Chief Cites Additional Needs

BUCYRUS — Legislation for greater authority for the fire chief in making inspections of suspected fire hazards, the outcome of a public meeting Monday night, was presented to city council Tuesday night. The meeting, called by Harold Smith, local manufacturer, as a result of the disastrous fire last week which destroyed a downtown building, aired the city's fire department ills.

Fire Chief William F. Mader defended his position, declaring that more equipment and men are needed if the city is to fight fires successfully. He named as the first requirement, replacing of 17 miles of wooden water mains with cast iron pipe to assure greater water pressure. Another pumper and four more men in the department are also needed for greater protection, Mader declared.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

High Army Officer Believes Hitler Lives

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1946 TELEPHONE 4251-6 PAGE THIRTEEN

Winchell — On Broadway

GIVE SENATOR TAFT'S record the once-over and you'll come across shoddy facts that you wouldn't want to touch. His astounding comment about the hanging of the Nazi unspeakables is only the latest act in the tragedy of his career. Before the war (during and after) Taft has been involved in an orgy of irritating erratum. If the nation had been foolish enough to follow Taft's stumbling, Hitler would have been handed a triumph on a silver platter and democracy would now be dangling from a noose.

The senator has maintained an odious consistency. His wild-eyed reaction to the well-deserved punishment of those responsible for the butcheries in Europe is matched by his incorrigible meddling in America's sedition case. Taft has the dubious distinction of being the first legislator to half-Nelson the Justice Dep't inan effort to hamstring the prosecution. Convicted killers and alleged seditionists seem to be his darlings.

Another Taft tripewriter ribbon: "The invasion of Germany by the U. S. Army is a fantastic idea—unlikely to be undertaken."

Politically, economically and militarily, Taft has always hitched his wagon to a dunce cap. Several weeks ago he objected to a large American army . . . This is the same Taft who proclaimed on Nov. 19, 1940, that "my own conclusion is that the presence of 750,000 men under arms in the United States supplies an ample margin for the defense of the U.S. during the next two or three years. What reserves are necessary? The day of large armies seems to be waning."

Isolationist Taft fondled peace until it shivered. His idea of amity was the illegitimate offspring of appeasement —the Munich Peace. As for Nazism's threat to our liberty—he was completely unconcerned. Take the spineless statement made on March 9, 1941, as an illustration: "War is even worse than a German victory" . . . There have been other Americans who fought rather than accept a tyrant's slavery. They were named Minute Men.

* * *

It was the arch-Repub Herald-Trib that came through with a vigorous padding of Taft after his remarks on war criminals. The opinion-boy demolished his arguments with: "Senator Taft is simply helping in the manufacture of a future legend of martyrdom and injustice for which there is no valid or reasonable basis; he is thus needlessly promoting the evils which he professes to fear."

* * *

The other colyum we pointed out that on Feb. 22, 1941, Taft uttered the most shocking fluff of all. To wit: "It is simply fantastic to suppose there is any danger of an attack on the United States by Japan" . . . It should be emphasized here that Taft not only opposes the trial of the Nazis—but he also objects to putting Jap war criminals on trial!

In sum: Taft opposes the conviction of war criminals, although he was never anxious to prevent their crimes. He defends men indicted (some convicted) as seditionists and ignores their continued subversion. He was oblivious to Hitler's aggression while attacking those who wanted to stop him. He condemned a President when the Commander-in-Chief was preparing America to save its liberty. He blasted Allied judges for punishing killers. He defamed the Justice Dep't for planning to prosecute alleged seditionists.

Yet this man is considered (by some G.O.P. chiefs) an important contender in the Presidential sweepstakes . . . imagine!

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—In his opinion in the anti-trust suit against the A. and P. grocery chain, Judge Walter C. Lindley, of the federal district court, said the purpose of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act was to prevent restraints of interstate commerce, and to afford protection from monopolistic endeavor.

The charges were that the defendants formed a conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce in food and conspired to monopolize a "substantial part" of such products in interstate commerce.

I was passing by an A. and P. store out in the country the other day and stopped to read a great big sign across the window. It said the A. and P.'s were locked up indefinitely because the truckers' strike in New York made it impossible for them to receive groceries. The A. and P. was having no argument with the teamsters and didn't employ any teamsters whatever. Just the same, they had to close down. Yet they were paying the wages of 8,000 employes during this layoff.

"Well," I said to George Spelvin, American, "they can take it. Rich muggs, those Hartfords, George and John."

* * *

"DON'T BE A FOOL beyond the limits set by nature," Spelvin said. "At $10 a day, average. That is $80,000 a day, and A. and P. isn't the U. S. treasury. And if it's only $6 a day, average, that's $48,000 a day."

Well, then, we got to thinking who was restraining trade here, the Hartford boys or old Dan Tobin's teamsters in New York?

The Sherman law originally was supposed to forbid all conspiracies in restraint of interstate commerce, by unions as well as by companies. Then it was decided that this interfered with labor's right to strike, so we got another law exempting the unions. They could restrain interstate commerce to total strangulation, if necessary, and they didn't have to explain their reasons to anybody.

How long have you been waiting for a new car? Strikes. Slowdowns through conspiracies to limit production to a fraction of any worker's reasonable ability, thus reducing interstate commerce. Boycotts. Picket-lines. All strangling interstate commerce by warrant, mind you, of Wagner's fraud, designed to "remove impediments" to interstate commerce by the smooth and peaceful settlement of disputes.

* * *

I THINK the Hartfords are nuts, paying wages to the 8,000 hands laid off by the teamsters' strike. Nice fellows and good to their help, but nuts. Because if those 8,000 and their families had to rough it along without pay on unemployment relief I think they would realize that they were thrown out of work by Wagner's law and vote for candidates who would promise to try to change it. I think word would get around that unions, by throwing millions out of work and onto the unemployment rolls, are artificially creating mass unemployment and hastening a time when unemployment relief must be curtailed or abolished because its principal function now is to carry people through emergencies caused by union masters who call strikes at will and wipe their feet on the poor rank and file or whip up fake grievances and persuade the rank and file to vote for strikes or false statements of the issues.

A strike of a thousand can throw a million onto the unemployment rolls so that the whole body of citizens pays taxes to carry jobless men made idle by some few labor monopolists, in restraint of trade.

Spelvin said he thought that if A. and P. was a malefactor just for getting big enough to restrain interstate commerce but without actually restraining it, then Wagner's law certainly had frustrated the very purpose that old Wagner offered it for in the first place, to encouraging commerce. George Spelvin, American, said that to me just today and I think he is going to vote that way.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

AS AN INDICATION of things to come the speech by the chairman of the Republican national committee, Carroll Reece, is in many ways more interesting than President Truman's. For while the Democratic party still holds the offices, the Republicans have steadily been acquiring the powers of government.

Since Mr. Truman became president, and even for some time before, Senate Leader Taft and House Leader Martin have exercised an effective veto power in domestic legislation. Moreover, it would not be too much to say that their general views, except on party politics, more nearly reflect those of Mr. Truman and his intimate advisers than do the official pronouncements of the president. In addition, since last winter Senator Vandenberg has had a dominating, if not a dominant, influence in foreign policy.

We have been experiencing the transfer of power from the Democrats to the Republicans, and during this period the Democrats have reigned but not ruled. They have had the nominal responsibility but they have not had the reality of power. They have held the offices without much conviction that they ought to hold them.

Thus Mr. Truman's speech was that of a man who not only had to give up, but was almost glad that the time had come to give up, a struggle which he disliked and had never greatly believed in.

* * *

REECE'S SPEECH was that of a man who has every reason to believe that his party, which has enjoyed an ever growing power, is now in sight of the day when it may have to assume the responsibility of government as well.

Reece was not quite sure in his own mind whether he thinks Mr. Truman has bungled the business of controlling the transition from war to peace, or whether, on the contrary, he should take the position that it was a mistake, in fact a Communist infiltration into American life, to attempt to control the transition. So, being a practical politician, he took both lines.

He gave a reasonably accurate and searching account of how, beginning in 1944, when rationing was undermined, the administration messed up the control of reconversion. He was as indignant over all that as if he had wanted the control to succeed, and was now as sorry as Henry Wallace or PAC that it had not.

But he also argued most forcefully that the very idea of controlling the reconversion was abhorrent and repulsive, radical and red, and without saying it, he certainly implied that the right course would have been to remove all controls immediately at the end of the war, and perhaps never to have imposed them even during the war.

* * *

REECE DID NOT try to make himself perfectly clear on these points, preferring, it would seem, to have each person think he had said what that person would wish him to have said.

In any event, the postwar price controls had collapsed when Mr. Truman decided to abandon them. They had become worse than useless, once rationing had been abandoned and the price and wage ceilings had been punctured at a thousand points. The tattered remnants of the control served only to disrupt the operation of the market; they no longer regulated the market. The effect was as demoralizing as prohibition, in that the authority and the good faith of government were being undermined. So, since the control could not be administered effectively and with general public support, it was better to scrap it.

ENDORSEMENTS OF SCHOOL LEVY NOW TOTAL 44

PTA and Civic Groups Back 3-Mill Plan to Raise Teacher Salaries.

A total of 44 endorsements of the three-mill tax levy to provide funds to increase Mansfield teachers' salaries, have been given to date, Dr. Edwin A. Fensch, director of research in the public schools, said today.

GOES AFTER TB HOSPITAL OKAY

Stewart Makes Trip to Capital Seeking Approval.

County Commissioner Guy W. Stewart was in Columbus today attempting to obtain formal approval from the State Department of Health on the building plans and site of the new Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Stewart, C. L. Shoup, chairman of the board of commissioners, and Architect H. S. Jones were in Columbus recently and received informal approval from Dr. Roger E. Heering, state director of health.

Dr. Heering told the commissioners at that time that the formal approval would be mailed in a day or two, but it had not been received here yet today.

Stewart said he talked with Dr. Heering by phone before leaving today and was told it had been mailed.

"But we haven't received it and I'm going down to see if I can't get it and bring it back with me," Stewart said.

The commissioners must obtain the formal approval before seeking a building permit from the Civilian Production Administration office in Cleveland.

Plans call for the construction of a modern four-story 49-bed structure to replace the present 29-bed building leased at 535 Lexington avenue.

A $300,000 bond issue was voted last fall to pay for the building.

11TH IN YEAR

County's Fourth Diphtheria Case in Month Reported.

Richland county's fourth diphtheria case in less than a month and the eleventh so far this year was reported today by health officials.

Examination of students at Lexington village school revealed that an 18-year-old boy had the disease and that a 13-year-old boy was a "carrier," officials said.

The family of the 18-year-old is under quarantine; the younger boy is under a doctor's care.

The county's 11 cases this year compares with Mansfield's two which requires that school children be inoculated against diphtheria.

Ex-OSR Inmate Faces Chair

Found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in Cincinnati yesterday, Fred J. Wormack, jr., 22, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, today faced death in the electric chair.

Wormack was convicted of shooting Buddy James White, 33, a taxi driver, last June 20.

Defense attorneys, in pleading mercy for Wormack, charged that the state should have "aided him" when he was confined in the Boy's Industrial school at Lancaster and later at the state reformatory in Mansfield.

Dale Robinson, a Uhrichsville taxi driver, was one of two cabbies who testified at the trial that they had been held up and shot by Wormack and a companion within a few days after White was slain.

Howard Gamble, a 19-year-old Cincinnatian, was given a 10 to 20 year reformatory sentence in New Philadelphia Tuesday for his part in the Robinson robbery.

50 VETS DENIED FARM TRAINING

Boards Await VA Assurance Payments to Be Made.

Approximately 50 veterans in Richland county are being denied farm training and subsistance payments under the GI bill of rights because none of the rural school boards in the county feel they can accept sponsorship of the veterans vocational agriculture training, County Superintendent of Schools Boyd Robinson reported today.

None of the school boards feel that they can accept the risk of paying the teachers a salary from their treasury until the Veterans Administration comes through with the reimbursement payments.

The school boards cannot get any assurance from the VA as to how soon the payments could be expected after the program is once started. Checks with schools outside of the county that have started the program revealed that no payments have come through to them although they started several months ago, Robinson said.

"We have about 25 veterans ready to go on the program now and there are at least 25 more who want the training," he said.

The call went through in a few minutes and was entirely satisfactory, Lisle said. The Ohio Bell company is installing some of the portable radio phones in larger Ohio cities and plans to place them in operation here later, it was said. They permit calling from a moving vehicle without the aid of lines to the vehicle.

OHIOAN CITES LACK OF PROOF FUEHRER DIED

Says Dictator Could Have Fled Berlin During Confusion of Final Battle.

By THEODORE MELTZER
(INS Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN — (INS) — An American intelligence officer, who directed the search of Adolf Hitler's Berlin chancellery after the presumed death of the former fuehrer, declared his belief today that Hitler, his mistress Eva Braun, and his deputy Martin Bormann all are alive.

Lt. Col. W. F. Heimlich, of Columbus, O., said there is "not one iota of proof of Hitler's death."

He continued:

"We believed Hitler was dead because in the emotion of victory we wanted to believe it. We wanted to feel sure we had wiped out every vestige of the Nazi hierarchy. However, unless new evidence is found, I shall continue to believe Hitler, Eva Braun and Bormann are living."

"We have found no witnesses whose stories will stand up under investigation. I am sure no insurance company would accept the existing evidence as proof of death."

* * *

Easy To Escape

Heimlich directed the American army's investigation of the events that occurred in the chancellory during the final days of the battle of Berlin. He had entered the city with the first U. S. troops.

He maintained that it was "extraordinarily easy" to escape from Berlin in those last days of Nazism.

Heimlich pointed out two possible methods by which Hitler and the others could have escaped.

First, he could have flown out of Berlin any time up to May 1, 1945. Second, he might have gone underground in Berlin with false identity cards.

* * *

Still Easy To Hide

He added that, even now:

"It is possible and not even difficult to disappear and live by telling a plausible story to local police or by bribing housing, police and food rationing officials."

Martin Bormann, thought to have been killed in a tank accident, was tried in absentia at Nuernberg and sentenced to death by hanging.

An appeal filed for him was denied by allied control council on the grounds that it was "premature."

State highway patrolmen said the collision occurred at 6:35 p. m. when a rental truck, owned by Robert Au and Jerry Strine of Mansfield and driven by Sherman pulled out of Trimble road and collided with a car driven by Wilbur McGay Caldwell, 40, Mansfield, R. D. 1.

Grice, who was a passenger in the truck, was treated for contusions of the left spinal muscle at Mansfield General hospital and released.

Harrison Sets Tournament Pace

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (INS) — Second round of the $10,000 Knoxville Open golf tournament was to be played over the Holston Hills course today.

E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., set the pace for the field as the second round began. The veteran linksman clipped four strokes off regulation figures yesterday for a 68 to lead at the end of the first day's play.

Grouped three strokes behind Harrison were Jimmy Hines, Chicago; Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio, and Ky Laffoon, Orlando, Fla., with 71's.

Not Enough Money To Buy Williams

BOSTON —(AP)— The Red Sox are back in town and these facts became known today:

Ted Williams definitely is not for sale before or during the 1947 season. Joe Cronin will remain as field pilot of the club and not move into a "front office job?"

Owner Tom Yawkey, himself, told baseball writers that Williams, whose bat never got to the potent stage during the world series, was not to be sent to another club.

"There isn't money enough around to buy him," he stated.

Massillon Boasts 17 Lettermen

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

Mansfield Senior high school gridmen are ending their week's practice chores at Stadium field this afternoon as all Mansfield awaits the contest with the roarin' Massillon Washington high Tigers tomorrow night in the local athletic plant.

The two behemoths of Ohio high school football collide in the top melee of the week and possibly of the season. Mansfield is rated as the state's No. 2 team while Massillon holds down the sixth rung in the weekly INS poll. The only reason the latter team is off its customary perch at the head of the class is a 14 to 7 defeat at the hands of top-ranked Cleveland Cathedral Latin in the season's opener.

Coaches Paul Snyder of Mansfield and Bud Houghton, Massillon, have lettermen studded teams that are among the hardest charging aggregations in the state. Snyder has 22 lettermen while Houghton has 17 monogram winners.

Massillon went through the 1945 season without absorbing a defeat although they were held to five ties, a record in schoolboy football. The Tigers hung a 40 to 6 beating on the Red and White Bengals last season and have never lost a game to Mansfield. The all-time series stands at 12 Massillon wins and two deadlocks.

Snyder and Houghton had the same idea in practice this week and kept out the snoopers with secret drills. Both schools scouted each other in force last week. Four Tyger scouts watched Massillon romp over Alliance and three Washington high observers were on hand as Mansfield slaughtered Springfield, 33 to 0.

Mansfield and Massillon have two of the largest high school teams in the state and both boast plenty of speed. Mansfield has gained 1,478 yards in five games while the Tigers have amassed 1,021 in four tilts. On defense the Snydermen have permitted 666 yards while the Massillon crew has allowed 728.

Nine members of the 1946 Massillon team performed against Mansfield in '45 while two backs—Paul Cary and Junior Pedrotty—are returned servicemen. Pedrotty will start at fullback.

Massillon operates off the T and single-wing formations with veteran Dan Byelene in the quarterback slot. Byelene handles the Tiger punting and passing with most of the ball-carrying falling on the capable shoulders of Gene Zorger.

Al Brown, Byelene's relief man, raced 61 yards for Massillon's first TD against Alliance and Alex Giloff, veteran halfback, picked up the second on a four-yard plunge. Morrie Eberhardt, Massillon's tremendous right end, blocked an Aviator punt and fell on it for the third score.

Gene Krisher, tackle, and Gene Yost, fullback, were injured badly in the Alliance game and reports from the Tiger lair say they will be out of action a week or two.

The Tiger starting lineup shapes up with Jack Zeller and Eberhardt, ends; Jim Young and Julius Wittman, tackles; Tony Uliveto and Tom Brooks, guards; Merle Darrah, center; Byelene, Giloff, Pedrotty and Zorger, backs. Pedrotty, Wittman and Eberhardt did not play against Mansfield in 1945.

Kenny Horvath, veteran Tyger fullback, leads the Bengal scoring yardage parades again this week. Horvath dashed across the goalline three times against Springfield to run his point total to 60 for the season.

Kenny has galloped 500 yards in the five Tgyer victories while the combined running attack of the Mansfield opposition has accounted for only 466 yards. Horvath has carried the oval 75 times for an average of 6.9 a trip.

Ralph Majors is second in ground-gaining with 396 yards on 64 attempts while Bill McKee has counted 30 points.

Mansfield Madison will be gunning for its third straight triumph tomorrow afternoon at Doylestown. The Rams dropped two of their first three games and then came back to smear Rittman, 20-6, and blast Lou-

Coach Jeff DeHaven's lads have copped two of three Northeastern Buckeye league tilts and will reign as the slight favorites to make Doylestown another victim. The latter club won its only loop encounter by rolling over Millersburg.

Barons and Bears Lead Hockey Loop

(By Associated Press).

Hershey and Cleveland are the respective leaders in the eastern and western divisions of the American Hockey league today as a result of two triumphs apiece in the first week's action of the infant season.

The Bears, after an opening night victory over Pittsburgh Tuesday, went to Springfield last night to meet the Indians' first team since 1942 and won 6-4 before a sellout crowd of 5,500.

Cleveland, successful in the opener with Philadelphia, repeated last night at St. Louis by trouncing the Flyers 6-2 before a capacity crowd of 14,518—the league's record gate so far.

Fight Results

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO—Joey Maxim, 184, Cleveland, knocked out Bearcat Jones, 185½, Pittsburgh, 5.

Canisus and St. Bonaventure are newcomers to the Bowling Green University football schedule.

Attendance Figures on Pro Grid Fight

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Football league is leading the All-America conference by a matter of a few thousand customers in the knock-down-drag-out battle of the gate receipts but both professional circuits assure you that business is good and promises to get better.

In the first 16 games of the regular season, the ten teams of the established National league have played before a total of 506,358 fans—an average of 31,647 per game.

The eight teams of the new All-America conference, having played 23 games on their initial championship schedule, have appeared before 648,861 fans—an average of 28,211 per game.

Officials of the National league point proudly to the fact that their attendance to date is 47.2 per cent above the first 16 games of 1945, a year which wound up as the best in the loop from the standpoint of drawing power if not from the standard of play.

All-America conference heads, on the other hand, hold up the fact that their opener at Cleveland drew a crowd of 60,135, largest throng ever to see a regularly scheduled professional football game, and at least two other games topped the 60,000 mark, which the rival loop has not yet attained this year.

By way of comparison with the past, the National league drew 1,442,737 for 50 regular games in 1945, averaging 28,854 per game, which was an increase of 19.9 per cent over the previous year.

PASS MASTER: Ready for his third start against the Massillon Tigers is Ollie Cline, Mansfield's clever left-half. He handles most of the Tyger aerial work and is the man up under the center in the T. Ollie completed four straight heaves to win the Cleveland East contest. He sent an eight-yard aerial to Harold Amsbaugh for the only Mansfield score against Massillon in 1945.

BOOSTERS SCHEDULE BIG RALLY TONIGHT

Mansfield Tyger booster club has scheduled a giant pep rally for tonight to get local grid fandom in condition for the football contest tomorrow between Paul Snyder's unbeaten club and the Washington high Tigers of Massillon.

The rally has been divided into two parts, the indoor session starting at 7:15 in the auditorium and the outdoor section at 8:15 at Stadium field.

Pictures of the Tygers' 55-2 victory over hapless Sandusky gets the indoor party under way with Snyder following with a commentary on the Mansfield skirmishes with Portsmouth and Springfield. Vern Hoffman, who has watched Massillon play against Steubenville and Alliance, will give a scouting report on the Tigers.

Senior high school vocalists, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, conclude the indoor program with a 15-minute musical treat.

Sparking the outdoor festivities will be the Senior high students in a giant snake dance. The dance will be organized at John Simpson junior high school at 6:30 and wend its way through the business district before heading for Stadium field and the big rally.

J. Merton Holcombe's fine Tyger marching band will give an exhibition at the rally and short talks by Principal Glenn Rohleder and the Tyger coaches are scheduled.

The public is invited to both rallies.

George Sherman, Mansfield high ticket manager, has announced that standing room tickets will be sold at the gate tomorrow beginning at 6:30. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Washington high's swing band will share the half-time program tomorrow with the Tyger musicians.

Reynolds Cast In Mat Feature

Davey Reynolds, the popular grunt and groan expert from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, meets superruffian Stocky Kneilson, Tennessee, in the windup of tonight's wrestling exhibition in the Mansfield Armory.

Reynolds brand of mat tactics is completely different than Kneilson's. Davey is an exponent of clean and snappy grappling but the Iowan has got tough at times to take the starch out of arch villians of Stocky's ilk. They go in a two-of-three falls match with a one-hour limit.

Speed LaRance, Columbus matman, takes on a newcomer Ruben Gracia of Mexico in the opener at 8:15. They will also meet in the best two-of-three falls with a one-hour time limit.

Bob Grieve, new Syracuse cross-country coach, will make his debut here October 12 against Penn State, where he was freshman coach before the war.

PUBLIC SERVICE vs. PARTISAN POLITICS

A FRANK DISCUSSION

1. The qualifications of your Congressional Candidates are much more important than Party Affiliation.
WHY?

Roughly, only 10 per cent of the Party goes to the polls to nominate a Candidate.

No choice of candidates was offered at either Democratic or Republican nomination for Congressman.

2. Your Democratic Candidate has not participated in any legislation in Congress. He is subject to neither praise nor criticism for what others have done.

3. Your Democratic Candidate is a successful businessman and engineer pledged and qualified to meet National Issues and pledged to Vote for the Public Welfare and pledged not to play partisan politics.

4. Wesley W. Purdy, Democratic Candidate has outlined a definite National and International Policy.

5. The following legislation sponsored by a Democratic Congress and passed by Progressive Democrats and Progressive Republicans, who placed the National Welfare above partisan politics, marks new levels of accomplishment in GOVERNMENT, OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, and FOR THE PEOPLE.

Federal Insurance Bank Deposits—Blue Sky Laws to Protect Small Investors from Wall Street—Old Age Pension and Unemployment Insurance—Collective Bargaining—Public Health Service—Conservation of National Farm Resources—Child Welfare Laws—Rural Electrification—Home Owners Loan Corporation—Crop Insurance—Parity Prices for Farmers—G. I. Bill of Rights—Veterans Housing and many others.

Do I hear any desire to repeal this legislation, even from those who fought it?

Your Democratic Candidate believes that legislation of this type exemplifies that STEADY PROGRESS IN DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES which Reactionaries eulogize a few years after they fought against it.

A CAMPAIGN OF HATE

1. Your present Congressman and a few other rabid Partisans offer you no constructive program. You are offered a CAMPAIGN OF HATE directed at all Democratic Candidates.
2. This CAMPAIGN OF HATE is indeed a WEAK REED to lean upon for re-election and is intended to DIVERT ATTENTION from your Congressman's voting record which is so reactionary as to mark him as a weak man indeed. Free Government Pamphlets and backslapping are a sorry substitute for Constructive National Legislation. TAKE A LOOK AT THE RECORD.

Your Congressman VOTED AGAINST:—
(a) Preparedness Before Pearl Harbor.
(b) Funds for Rural Electrification—June 23, 1943.
(c) Commodity Credit Funds (Crop Loans, Etc.—August 1, 1940.
(d) Soil Conservation Payments—June 22, 1943.
(e) Mustering-Out Payments.
(f) Crop Insurance—June 11, 1941. (Did come later).
(g) Veterans Job Protection—August 12, 1941.
This is only a small portion of the Obstructionist Program.

3. Your Congressman says throw out the Reds and Communists. SURE, but let us add the Incompetent and Reactionary to the list. LET us ask for CAPABLE MEN with CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAMS, not for narrow partisan politicians who opposed preparedness, and who now OPPOSE VETERANS LEGISLATION.

4. The most obscure veteran has done a thousand times more for this nation than your present Congressman who drew $60,000 in 6 years. This Congressman's only claim for re-election is that he is a Republican, nominated by about 10 per cent of his party at the Primary.

5. Give RECOGNITION to your VETERANS by electing a Candidate who lives, acts and fights for Democracy and is a Veteran of ARMY SERVICE and NAVY SERVICE.

Ohio State Buckeyes Taper Off

BIX'S BOYS MUST BEAT PURDUE CLUB SATURDAY

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Paul Bixler planned today to taper off work for his Ohio State football team before its Saturday test against Purdue after a brief scrimmage session yesterday.

The Purdue game is one that must be won by the Buckeyes if they hope to remain in Western conference title competition and in the national limelight. That, coupled with memories of last year's 35-13 reversal by Cecil Isbell's Boilermakers, has kept Ohio State noses to the grindstone all week.

It was forward passing, and defense against same, that occupied the Bucks again last night for a major part of the practice session.

Bixler's search for additional reserve strength has produced little results, although Fred Morrison and Ernie Parks have moved into the second string end positions over Traian Dendiu and Bud Kessler.

It was learned that Dean Sensenbaugher, the 1943 flash who spent a season at West Point and was recently discharged from the army, will not be eligible this year. Sensenbaugher has enrolled at the university, but conference officials ruled him out as a transfer student.

Placekicker Johnny Stungis, however, received a clean bill of health after some question as to his eligibility that kept him from making the Wisconsin trip.

Purdue—The Boilermarkers' passing ace, Bob de Moss, worked out briefly yesterday, but his left arm was virtually tied to his side. He dislocated his shoulder in practice last week. . . . Coach Cecil Isbell indicated that John Galvin would start at quarterback against Ohio State. . . . Other injured Purdue players — Bob Pfohl, George Papach and George Buksar—were reported recovering, but it was doubtful whether any of them would be ready for action Saturday.

Illinois — Three new players were in the first string lineup as the squad held a rugged scrimmage against reserves in preparation for the Wisconsin game here Saturday. . . . Art Duffelmeier, leading ground gainer, replaced Julie Rykovich as first string halfback; Ray Grierson operated at fullback in place of Russ Steger, and Al Mastrangeli was promoted to the ailing Mac Wenskunas pivot post.

Indiana — Quarterback Jimmy Cox, Halfback Andy Bibbs and Fullback James Roberson were moved up to the varsity from the "B" team because of their showing last week with the unbeaten "B's." Roberson, 200-pound Negro from Stone Harbor, N J, had been operating at end, but because of his running smashes Coach Bo McMillin sent him to fullback.

Michigan — The Wolverines went through another scrimmage in an effort to perfect timing of their offensive plays in preparation for Northwestern's invasion. . . . After a long workout Coach Fritz Crisler said the squad appeared to show no signs of a letdown following its 20 to 13 loss to Army

Northwestern — Alex Sarkisian, sophomore center from East Chicago, Ind., was elected game captain to lead the Wildcats against Michigan Saturday. . . . Coach Lynn Waldorf said a 37-man squad will leave tomorrow for Ann Arbor and will hold a warmup session in the afternoon at Dearborn, Mich The team will go to Ann Arbor Saturday morning.

John Simpson Defeats Ashland For Fourth Straight Victory

John Simpson Junior high school blasted its way to a three-touchdown lead in the first half and then held on to defeat the Ashland Junior Varsity, 19 to 13, yesterday afternoon on Stadium field

Coach Bob Kennedy's Bulldogs, playing without three first string backs, dominated play throughout most of the game to rack up their fourth consecutive victory. Simpson picked up 12 first downs to seven for Ashland. The visitors completed four of nine passes while the winners did not attempt an aerial

The Bulldogs wasted little time in going to the fore. They took the opening kickoff on the Simpson 20 and marched 80 yards to score with Charles Jenkins powering over from the three. Later in the period Don Cline returned an Ashland punt 68 yards into paydirt.

Esker Jordan went over from the four in the second chapter to cap a sustained drive. Jenkins plunged for the 19th marker.

A penalty set up the first Ashland score with Bates counting from the one-yard stripe. An 18-yard forward-lateral with D. Oakley on the receiving end accounted for the final TD Workman placekicked the seventh point

Simpson plays at Galion next Wednesday. The Bulldogs' band will accompany the gridders

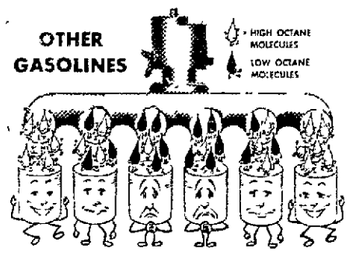
We believe no gasoline, even premium-priced, can equal the incomparable smoothness of Dynafuel

HERE'S WHY: ALL gasolines (including Sunoco Dynafuel) are composed of "light" and "heavy" molecules. As the gasoline goes into the cylinders from the carburetor, some of the "heavy" molecules separate from the rest of the gasoline and go to certain cylinders which get most of the "heavy" molecules, while other cylinders get mostly "light" molecules.



IN MOST OTHER GASOLINES the "heavy" molecules are low in octane quality . . . but the "light" molecules are high octane The cylinders receiving the low grade "heavy" molecules do not receive the same high knockless quality as other cylinders.

IN SUNOCO DYNAFUEL, all molecules, both "heavy" and "light," deliver equally high octane power No matter whether a cylinder receives "light" or "heavy" molecules, that cylinder and all cylinders receive uniformly high knockless quality.

The former servicemen noticed the juvenile courthouse was empty. Inquiry disclosed that it hadn't been used in three years. A petition to the county board of supervisors brought them the right to use the building. After necessary repairs and alterations, the veterans and their families moved in.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

HOSPITAL SETS BIRTHS RECORD FOR 9 MONTHS

1,000 Babies Born, Superintendent Tells Board Members, Staff Personnel.

A thousand babies were born in the Mansfield General hospital in the first nine months of 1946, Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent, told board members and staff personel at the party given last night at the Nurses Home to honor the six new staff members.

This exceeds the record of any previous year, Dr. Fonkalsrud said.

During the nine months, the hospital accounted for 5,683 bed patients, as compared with 4,899 for the comparable period in 1945. During September alone, 825 bed patients were admitted.

Dr. Fonkalsrud said the figures do not include those patients who enter the hospital for only a few hours and are not confined to beds.

Accidents Increase.

Accident cases have also increased during the nine month period as compared to those of last year. There were 90 in September, making a total for the nine-month period of 1,189. The corresponding figure for 1945 was 948.

Dr. Fonkalsrud's talk preceded his introduction of the six new staff members. These include Miss Dorothy Bird, supervisor of nurses; Miss Carrie Beal, assistant supervisor of nurses; Miss Lois Good, dietitian; Miss Betty Wilson, who is in charge of the pharmacy; Mrs. Martha Reeder, science instructor, and Mrs. Hannah Boggs, house mother at the nurse's home.

C. W. Fuchs, treasurer of the board, also spoke briefly, telling of the financial progress of the hospital.

Acting as hostesses were Mrs. Fonkalsrud, Miss Bessie Easley, science instructor; Mrs. Ephraim Brown, secretary of the board, and Mrs. Lois Anson, board member.

Forty-five were served in the dining room of the nurses home. The buffet was in charge of Miss Good and diet kitchen assistants. Autumn leaves and lighted candles were used effectively as decorations for the spacious living quarters of the home.
